Copy of Telegram received by Sherman & Hyde.

New York, Sept. 29, 1876.—Received the highest award for sympathetic, pure and rich tone, combined with greatest power, as shown in the three styles—Grand, Square and Upright Pianos—which show intelligence and solidity in their construction, a pleasant and easy touch, which at the same time answers promptly to its requirements, together with excellence of workmanship.

These famous Pianos are for sale by
SHERMAN & HYDE,
Corner Kearny and Sutter Streets, San Francisco.

Never before in the history of piano forte manufacture has an instrument risen so rapidly in popular favor.

Its intrinsic merit and decided superiority over all others has caused ever increasing and artist of note to adopt and recommend it.

Myself, "I shall take every opportunity to recommend and praise our instruments."

Miss Kellogg says, "Your Pianos are my choice for the concert room and my own home."

Lucas says, "Your uprights are extraordinary instruments, and deserve their great popularity."

Putt says, "I have used the Piano of every celebrated maker, but give yours the preference over all."

Shuman says, "Your Pianos astonish me. I have never seen any Pianos which equal yours." Wohl says, "Madame Parpa called your Pianos the finest in the United States. I fully endorse that opinion. They have no rival."

A POSSIBLE CONTINGENCY.

The Democrats claim one possible advantage over the Republicans in the contest for the Presidency which in a certain contingency might be conclusive of the result. Their calculation is that if by throwing out of votes, neither candidate should have a majority of the Electoral College, or there should be a tie, the election of President would devolve on the present House of Representatives. Disputes from the East indicate that all the probability of this turn of affairs are now being eagerly scanned. The Constitution provides that "The person having the greatest number for President shall be President, if such a number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed; and if no person have such a majority, then from the persons having the highest number, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately by ballot the President. But in choosing the President, the vote shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice." The House is Democratic, that party being in a majority of five by States. Twice only in the history of the Government have Presidents been elected by the House of Representatives. And from the San Francisco Bulletin we gather the incidents attending the same. The Bulletin says:

The first was in the case of the celebrated contest between Jefferson and Burr. The old system was then in operation, that the candidate having the highest number of votes in the Electoral College should be President, and the next highest the Vice President. But Jefferson and Burr had each the same number of votes. There was no means, therefore, by which the President could be distinguished from his heir apparent in the College. So the election was thrown into the House. There, likewise, it came near assuming an insoluble shape. There were sixteen States, of which eight voted for Jefferson, six for Burr, and two were divided. Jefferson lacked one of a majority by States, and for a long time there seemed to be no chance of his getting that one. There were thirty-five ballots, extending over seven days nominally without adjournment, for the House of Representatives is by the Constitution to keep continuously at work until its own term expires. On the thirty-sixth ballot, however, the two divided States voted for Jefferson, so he became President and Burr Vice President. But if the House had failed of an election there would not have been anarchy, for then the Senate would have, under the terms of the Constitution, the naming practically of the President.

The second instance of an election by the House of Representatives, on the failure of an Electoral College, was in 1821. In the election held in that year Andrew Jackson received 99 electoral votes, John Quincy Adams 84, Wm. H. Crawford 41, and Henry Clay 37. General Jackson lacked 23 of a majority. The system inaugurated in 1821, and which is now substantially in force, was then in operation. The election was accordingly thrown into the House. As only the three highest could be voted for, Mr. Clay was ruled out. Jackson received the vote of 13 of the 24 States then in the Union, Adams 6 and Crawford 4. Jackson was accordingly elected. The singular part of this election was that though the Electoral College failed to elect a President, it accomplished the election of the Vice President in the person of John C. Calhoun. For him 182 votes were cast in that body, nearly double the number recorded for the head of the ticket on which he ran.

This Democracy evidently have their eyes on the postoffice in the country, judging from the way they are getting after the few postmasters who happen to have been chosen as Presidential electors.

ANTI-CHINESE people would probably do better to get in a good testimony before the Commission of Inquiry than to waste their efforts in mass meetings and loose talk.

Elmer Washburn, ex-chief of the Secret Service, succeeded Friday night in arresting the two men who on election night attempted to steal the remains of Abraham Lincoln. Both were Chicago men.

Mack and Allen will join Virginia on Friday and will give the Comstockers a sample of their skill.

During the last session of Congress an Act was passed authorizing the appointment by the President of a Commission of three persons to examine the subject of Postal Railway Transportation and report to Congress at its next session such recommendations for rates, regulations and compensation as should to them seem best. The President appointed Messrs. Gardiner G. Hubbard of Massachusetts, F. W. Palmer of Illinois, and Daniel M. Fox of Pennsylvania. These gentlemen entered upon the discharge of their duties in the latter part of September last. As many of our readers will know this Commission has been in this State this week. They were in Virginia on Thursday, in Carson on Friday, and are now in San Francisco. The Act of that place, furnishes us with the duties of this Commission. It says:

The necessity of some general mention of the laws relating to mail transportation seems to have been precipitated by the passage of a bill by the last Congress providing for a reduction of ten per cent. in the compensation paid to railway companies for mail service. The two trunk lines of railways, viz: the New York Central and the Pennsylvania Central, which had for about ten months carried the fast and limited mails, and which service had shortened the time for correspondence between the Atlantic seaboard cities and nearly all cities in and beyond the Mississippi Valley twenty-four and thirty-six hours, gave notice before the passage of the last named law that they would be unable to continue the service at the proposed reduction. The officers in control of these lines kept their word, and since about the 1st of July last the public have been compelled to fall back to such rates of speed for mail carriage as the railway companies might choose to give for the pay they are now receiving. The inquiries of the Postal Railway Commission thus far in the prosecution of their duties have been directed to these points:

First—Whether or not the railway mail service, as at present executed, secures as much speed, punctuality and convenience as the public have a right to expect.

Second—Whether or not the present rate of compensation would be sufficient for an efficient service, having the estimate of the work performed for the Post Office Department upon a comparison with that performed in express and passenger traffic.

Third—Whether or not modifications should be made in the Postal laws in other respects, to secure greater efficiency in the service. In the prosecution of these inquiries the Commission have taken the testimony of officers of the Post Office Department, railway officials, representatives of mercantile organizations, and leading business men of the Eastern, Western and Southern States. They have visited the cities of Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville, Chattanooga, Atlanta, St. Louis, St. Paul, Houston and Galveston.

THE COMSTOCK.

The Enterprise of yesterday gets off a good one on the present stock market. After a howling in which it says that stocks are in porphyry, that sinking is making good progress; no trouble from water; whether to continue sinking or make an upraise to be determined by future developments; men being discharged; the San Francisco mills and the returns made by them, it quaintly remarks:

Stocks during the past week have made better progress on down than any shift on the Comstock. Water does not trouble their advance in that direction at all. From present indications they are running in porphyry. Doubtless drifts will be started on the present level and considerable prospecting may be done when it will be determined from the developments encountered whether it will be advisable to continue sinking, or whether an upraise cannot be made with better prospects of success. Several inclines have been started but as yet have developed nothing. Should present indications continue there will doubtless be a great number of men discharged from the works, as there will be no use for them until new developments are made.

The San Francisco mills are all running as usual, but on very low grade ore. Much of it has not paid costs of mining and milling, to judge from returns received. Occasionally a good batch has been found, but it has been in streaks here and there.

The President Friday appointed Quincy M. Hall to be Postmaster at Elko, Nevada, vice T. N. Storer, resigned.

THE ELECTION.

SOUTH CAROLINA FOR HAYES!

HIS STAR ASCENDING.

LATEST FROM LOUISIANA AND FLORIDA.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—A Journal's New Orleans special says the Returning Board met at noon, Trumbull, Palmer and Shulls, of the Democrats, being present. The Board adopted a resolution inviting five of the visitors of each party to attend the count as private citizens. Witnesses of the outrages committed in the disputed parishes are arriving. Negroes who have been whipped and wounded are here. The Democrats claim to have five thousand affidavits from negroes saying that they voted the Democratic ticket from choice. The Republicans say the affidavits have been manufactured. The Republicans will not answer the last Democratic effusions.

New Orleans—At 12 o'clock there was quite a gathering at the rooms of the State Returning Board. Casanova and Wells, members of the Board, were there. Judge Trumbull, Judge Stalls, Governor Palmer and ex-Governor McRory of the Northern Democrats, and a Democratic Committee which has charge of the evidence to be presented on the part of the Democrats was also present. There were a number of Republicans present also. There was a delay in the meeting on the part of the Board, of the absence of Messrs. Anderson and Kenner. The Board met at 12:30, and authorized the Sergeant-at-Arms to procure a room for the meeting of the Board. Colonel Sancharies filed a plea to the jurisdiction of the Board, which thereafter went into Executive session.

New York—A Tallahassee special says an interview with the members of the Board indicates an apparent certainty that the Board will refuse to commence the canvass as requested, but will postpone it till it will be too late for the Democrats to secure a full hearing. This has put them to looking into the authority under which the Board is acting. It is quite probable that proceedings will be commenced promptly to see if the Board can not be forced to commence canvassing, or whether it can not be restrained by injunction from exercising any judicial function at all. Controller Cowgill, a member of the Board, quoted the law to the reporter, which says the Board shall meet on the thirty-fifth day after the election, or sooner if the returns are all in. He said he should be bound by that law, and added that the returns are not all in. Judge Cocks, another member of the Board, said he should accede to the request of the committee and gave the opinion that the law admitted the right to make a serious canvass of the returns as they came in. Mr. W. E. Chandler says it appears as if the whole white population of Florida were a police board, detective force, and affidavit workers for the Democrats, while we have only a witness scattered here and there. Official returns from four counties received yesterday shows a Democratic loss of twenty-seven from the Commissioners' estimate, and a Republican loss of ten from the same estimate. The others agree exactly with what was claimed.

Columbus—The result of tabulating the returns of the County Canvassers, gives the State to the Hayes electors by majorities ranging from 230 to 1,133. Counsel for the Democrats immediately filed exceptions to the aggregation on the ground of irregularities, errors and omissions, between the managers of the returns and the statements of the County Canvassers, which they claim invalidates the above result. The Supreme Court will, it is understood, direct the Board in its duties as to the final count.

Chicago—A Journal's Washington special says: Victory in South Carolina! The suspense is over so far as the electoral vote of the State is concerned. The following is just received: Electoral vote is officially canvassed by the Returning Board. Hayes electoral ticket elected without any inquiry into Democratic frauds. The majority for the lowest Hayes elector is 236.

D. H. CHANDLERMAN.

Elko county's official vote gives Tilden 720, Hayes 763, and gives Elko a majority of 65, Kirkpatrick 82. Stone, Republican for Senator, is elected by 165, and the Republicans elect in addition the Sheriff, Recorder, Assessor, Clerk, Surveyor and one Assemblyman.

Nye county's official vote gives Tilden a majority of 7, Wren 11, Leonard and Kirkpatrick are a tie. Democrats elect Senator and Assemblyman. Republicans elect Sheriff, Clerk, Treasurer, Recorder, Assessor and District Attorney.

Lincoln county's official vote gives Tilden a small majority; Ellis 45; Kirkpatrick 54. Republicans elect a Senator, two Assemblymen, Clerk, Assessor, School Supt., District Attorney.

WORK FOR CONGRESS.

The Unfinished Business to be Disposed of Next Winter—Pacific Coast Interests to Receive Attention.

Notwithstanding the uncertainties involved in the political prospects, the people are generally returning to the consideration of questions of legislation now pending in Congress, and to be determined before the 4th of next March. Legislation commenced at the last session continues pending, notwithstanding the recess caused by the adjournment in July. The next session, which convenes in December, will expire by limitation on the 4th of March; hence the necessity of active work on the part of all interested in measures which must be passed upon before that time.

Washington will probably be the scene of unusual excitement next Winter, owing to the vast amount of unfinished business to be disposed of which was delayed at the last session on account of political trimming, in anticipation of a Presidential election. The strife among the lobby will probably attract great crowds to the National Capital, and every one will be earnest and eager to secure a first and favorable hearing. Those interests which succeed in running the gauntlet between the rival parties contending for the Presidency will owe their success to hard work and good luck.

THE SILVER BILL.

Will be one of the most important and engrossing subjects to deal with. Legislation of this kind necessarily will provoke much debate tantamounting to the representatives of minor interests, who will have to wait patiently and watch vigilantly for opportunities to press their claims.

THE RAILROAD CONTENT.

Between the Southern Pacific and Texas Pacific Railroads will likewise come in for a prominent share of Congressional attention, and the tactics on the part of the contending parties will consume much time, and exhaust much patience.

PACIFIC COAST INTERESTS.

Will probably be forced to issue rapidly. Prominent among these are bills affecting the production of brandy and native wines; new regulations for the Internal Revenue Department concerning brewers' taxes, etc.; the claims of National Gold Banks for increased per centage of circulation; the reduction of tax on Savings Banks, and new provisions for the disposition of the public domain, especially timber and mineral lands.

The California and Con. Virginia mines are each turning out 450 tons of ore daily this week; Bolcher, 250 tons; and Ophir, 280 tons. The news from the bonanza mines was never more encouraging, and the raid on the stocks this week is utterly at variance with the reports from Virginia.

The water which came in to the Gould & Curry from the Consolidated Virginia, last week, has been entirely drained, and preparations are being made for a resumption of work in the drifts. The new pumping machinery is also being erected.

Some fine quartz has been developed at the bottom of the Consolidated Imperial, but not enough to make any improvement in the value of the stock, which is now lower than it has been at any time since the consolidation took place.

FALL AND WINTER OPENING.—The latest novelties in Fall and Winter fashions will be opened out at Mrs. Julia J. Prescott's fashionable establishment, next door to the Postoffice. Thursday, Sept. 7th, where all the ladies of Reno and vicinity are invited to call. In addition to the above we are requested to inform the ladies that Mrs. Prescott is prepared to sell her elegant and newly selected stock of millinery at marvellously low prices, and all she asks is for the ladies to call and convince themselves.
